A VANDERBILT SCHEME,

NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS FOR AN ALLIANCE WITH READING.

The New York Central May Be Able to Chrekmate the Baltimore and Ohio'e Plans and Help the Coal Trade of Reading-Statements from Parties Who Know What Is Going On.

PRILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 16,-There are important negotiations pending be-tween the Heading Railroad people and a New York syndicate controlled by the Vanderbilts, which will result in an alliance between the Reading syndicate and the Van-

For several weeks past Mr. Isaac L. Rice. the New York lawyer, who is the controlling spirit in the new Beading syndicate, has been in conference with representatives of the Vanderbilts, and the result of these conferences will probably be amounced in a few days. Although nothing defi-nite has been arranged, it is ex-pected that the Vanderbilte will purchase outright a portion of the 400,000 shares of sek held by the Reading syndicate, and that they will also take some interest in Reading junior securities, although the syndicate has no united holdings of these secu-OF HIGHER COST AND LESS DURABLE rities. The alliance, if effected, will not GOODS only benefit the Reading, but will also inonly benefit the Reading, but will also inerease the business of some of the Vanderbilt lines.

Conferences have been held between Mr. Twombly, the son-in-law of the late Mr. Vanderbilt, and Mr. Isaac L. Rice, Mr. wombly informed a number of friends in this city several months ago that negotiations were in progress, but that they had been interrupted by various influences.

In relived direles it is believed that the purchase of a portion of the syndicate's holdings of Beading means that the South Penn Railroad would be completed, and that the Vandarbilts would thus have an outlet to New York by way of the Reading road, and to Boston by way of the Poughkeepste Bridge. The alliance would also enable the New York Central to keep the Baltimore and Oblo winin bounds and to prevent it from securing an independent outlet to New York

York. It was said last week that the negotia-tions would not be concluded and that no announcement of the deal would be made until Mr. Frank Thomson, the First Vice-President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, re-turned from Europe. Mr. Thomson reached this country a week ago, and since that time he has been besieged by his friends and requested to give them some in-formation about the matter. He has declined to do so and has maintained a discreet silence.

o do so and has maintained a discret silence.

A prominent railroad man who is intimately acquainted with Mr. Twombly said to-day that the negotiations began some time ago, and that they were interrupted by the New York Central strike. The tight money market and the unestiled stock market them intervened and Mr. Twombly did not take up the matter again until recently.

An alliance between the Vanderbilts and the Reading would, it is believed, materially beyeffs the cost trade. The position of the Pennsylvania and the Lehigh Valley would be strengthened, so far as their cost business is concerned, and the Reading could be controlled.

MRS. BEACH GETS HER DIVORCE. Sequel to the Midnight House-Breaking of July Last. SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.

BRIDGEFORT, Conn., Oct. 16, -Mrs. Joseph A. Beach, formerly Miss Nettie A. Benner, of Galesburg. Ill., was granted absolute divorce from her husband to-day by Judge Phelps, of the Fairfield County Superior Court. Interest in this notorious case has never flagged from the outset. An account in detail of the Beach difficulties was published exclusively in The World of July 25 lished exclusively in The World of July 25 last. Immediately after Mr. Beach had broken into his own house last July to surprise Mrs. Beach she served papers on him for divorce on the grounds of intolerable crueity and unfaithfuners, naming as correspondents various persons at various times and at various places. Mr. Beach brought a counter-suit, naming Channey Mortimer as co-respondent. Mrs. Beach brought a counter-suit, naming Channey Mortimer as co-respondent. Mrs. Beach filed a denial. Steps were taken at once by the friends of both to bring about a reconciliation on account of the little daughter. Daisy.

Daisy.

The greatest accrecy has been maintained by both sides. Clerk Booth, of the Superior Court, has been non-committal and the case was brought on te-day, during a recess, in the Superior Court room. Mrs. Beach has relinquished all claim to the property in Meriden, which at first it was understood she would try to recover, and also confined her petition for divorce to intolerable crucity. Mr. Beach withdrew his petitionaltogether and made no objection. According to the lew in this state both are at liberty to again assume the roke of maring to the lew in this State both are at liberty to again assume the yoke of marriage. Mrs. Head: retains the custody of her damphter, balsy, Mrs. Beach is young and handsome and hasbeen a leader-here in fashionable circle. It is understood that Mr. Heach will return to his former home in Moriden, and Mis. Beach to hers in Galesburg. III.

burg. III.

Early in July last Mrs. Beach found in her hustand's pockets a letter mailed in Chicago, written by a woman, its contents were paughty and self-convecting, and Mr. Beach very much desired to regain poacestion of it. But he didn't and probably it played a star part in resterday's court proceedings. Beach begged his wife's forgiveness for his indiscretion and made many promises for the induscretion for coasing his forgiving wife to sell her Meritein house and her sliver for the repentant husband's benefit. When he asked her to part with her diamonds she grow suspicious and refused. Two weeks later came the municipativesking into his own house in Bridgebort, assisted by two policement. It is undershood that he expected to find a man in the house with Mrs. Beach, but instead found only his wife and little daughter in bed together and asleep. Diverce proceedings were begun at once by Mrs. Beach. and asleep. Diverce proceedings were begun at once by Mrs. Beach.

BOSTON'S THEATRE LICENSES.

"The Clemenceau Case" Brings Up the Quention of Legality.

Bosros, Oct. 16.—The Board of Alderman restarday revoked the license of the Park Theatre because the members deemed 'The Clemencoan Case' an improper production.
